tamer variety. For the actual mags, you can buy them in Manchester from either Grass Roots on Newton Street or from England's Glory on Peter Street. Alternatively, they can be bought direct from Knockabout Comics (address below). The publicity drive for these two series of magazines is becoming quite developed. You can now buy badges, posters, postcards, greeting cards, T-shirts, rolling papers and even candles featuring the characters. For details on all these items, send for a free list to Dept N, Knockabout Comics, 249 Kensal Road, London W10 5DB. Adults only, by the way. Happy reading!

XTRACT

This is Xtract's second excursion onto vinyl, the first being two tracks, "War Heroes" and "Aftermath", on a compilation entitled, "Punk Dead? Nah mate, the smell is just summink in your underpants, inn it!" The single features the present Xtract line-up of Harvey on vocals, Karl on guitar, Rod on bass and Kip on drums. 1,500 copies have been printed although already nearly half of them have been sold so if you want one, go out and but it now. The four tracks laid down are all compact punchy songs with catchy choruses, reminiscent of early '77 punk. The band sound very tight, a major factor being the drumming I think, especially on "Blame It On The Youth". The lyrics are very reactionary although some of it is lost in the speed of some of the songs. On the whole though, a powerful single which should manage to sell well. Buy it from Edwin P. Lees or HMV.

Whatever the style or sound, we have been supplying instruments and music to orchestras, bands, groups and choirs for over 150 years. Surely after a century and a half, you can say we're in tune with your musical requirements.
